Chamber Promotes Business Vibrancy

The Moore County Chamber of Commerce is proud to have served the Moore County community for 58 years. As the area's largest business organization, our members serve as the key economic driver for our local economy, which ensures continued prosperity. To that end, the Chamber is honored to serve as a Convener, Catalyst and Champion of this great community and all who have decided to call this place home, do business here or support a local non-profit organization.

Moore County is an exceptional place to operate a business, raise a family, or enjoy retirement. Each of the eleven communities that make up Moore County are unique and special, and we are confident you will find one that fits your interests, lifestyle, or target market. Moore County is home to world class healthcare, dynamic educational options, and exciting cultural experiences that rival larger communities. Residents can enjoy an abundant number of natural resources throughout the County to explore on any given day. In addition, there are opportunities for you to find a place to serve or support non-profit organizations in the community.

I encourage you to take a moment, browse through this magazine, and fall in love with all that Moore County has to offer. Take a moment to smell the pines or pick up one of our famously large pinecones. Embrace the Carolina blue sky, even on a brisk January day. Stop at one of the local breweries, cider houses, distillery or pubs. Explore a local boutique. Enjoy a cup of joe at a local coffee shop in the early morning. Relax at a local park taking in the scenery. Discover a place where you can work, play, and relax. You will immediately want to call this place home.

Looking for a workplace away from home? Stop by the 3rd Floor the County's premier co-working space. This space is for solopreneurs, local business owners needing a training location or a place to use as a pit stop throughout the day where you can work, get a cup of coffee, enjoy a beer or glass of wine, relax, or place the final changes on a project between appointments. The 3rd Floor is located at the Chamber's facility at 160 West New York Avenue on the third floor above the Southern Pines Growler Shop. We invite you to stop by for a tour after you settle into the community.

Thank you for exploring Moore. #togetherwearemoore.

EXCEEDING EXPECTATIONS FOR OVER 45 YEARS

Moore County: A Growing Community and Economy

Natalie D. Hawkins, PMP

President | Moore County Economic Development Partnership

Moore County is a vibrant and growing community that welcomes new residents and businesses alike. In fact, we've been rated the #1 micropolitan in North Carolina each of the last six years (2018-2023) and are in the top 7% nationally for a stable and consistently growing economy.

Our economic growth is fueled primarily by a consistently growing population. Over the last 20 years, Moore County's population increased by nearly 40%. With a historical annual population growth rate of 2% to 2.5% that has increased to 3% in recent years, Moore County is now the 7th fastest growing county out of 100 counties in North Carolina.

Today, over 105,000 residents call Moore County home, and we are projected to grow to over 170,000 residents by 2050. "With the projected addition of +/- 1,000 new households each year, I expect our existing businesses will continue to expand, other businesses will locate here, and new businesses will be formed in Moore County for the foreseeable future," said Natalie Hawkins, President of Moore County Economic Development Partnership (MCEDP).

Residents and businesses choose to call Moore County home for several reasons. First and foremost, we offer a quality of life that is second to none. From world-class golf courses and exceptional healthcare to vibrant downtowns with boutique shops, farm-to-table restaurants, lively breweries, and ample outdoor recreation opportunities, Moore County has something to offer people of all ages. We are conveniently located between the beautiful NC mountains and coast, and our residents and businesses can easily access nearby metropolitan areas within a 1-to-2-hour drive.

One key driver of our economic growth is the healthcare industry. Moore County is home to several exceptional regional healthcare providers, including the award-winning FirstHealth of the Carolinas. Headquartered in Pinehurst, FirstHealth serves a 15-county region in the mid-Carolinas and provides top-notch medical care with state-of-the-art facilities not often found in rural America. In fact, their flagship hospital, Moore Regional Hospital, has been named a 100 Top Hospital eight times and was the only hospital in North Carolina to receive this prestigious award the last two years in a row.

Other significant healthcare providers include Pinehurst Medical Clinic and Pinehurst Surgical Clinic. All three of these regional providers have significantly expanded their facilities in Pinehurst and Southern Pines recently to provide advanced medical care. Some of these expansions include the addition of over 200,000 square feet of new medical office space on Morganton Road in Southern Pines and FirstHealth's 120,000 square foot Comprehensive Cancer Center in Pinehurst.

Another key driver of the local economy is tourism. "With over 30 golf courses in a 15-mile radius, our premier golf destination draws 1.5 million visitors to the Home of American Golf® each year. As a result, Moore County's

The golf courses in our area have been renowned for their contributions to the game of golf.

Many prestigious tournaments have been conducted beneath the Pines in the Sandhills.

The excellence of the golf courses and the history of our area have created a “bucket list” destination for those individuals who ask to experience some of the best golf has to offer.

At Allison and Associates our goal is for our patients to experience some of the best dentistry has to offer. As in golf, dentistry has definitely experienced technological advancements. These ensure better outcomes for patients due to increased precision and advancements of materials. Ultimately in golf, the champion is determined by the mental fortitude and skill set of the player. In dentistry, the artistry and skill is defined by the hands and mind of the dentist who wields said technology.

tourism economy is the 10th largest, out of 100 counties, in the state of North Carolina,” said Hawkins.

The globally recognized Pinehurst Resort boasts the famed Pinehurst No. 2 golf course where the U.S. Open Championship will be contested in 2024, 2029, 2035, 2041 and 2047. The economic impact of a single U.S. Open Championship has been estimated at approximately $400 million statewide. With the rising popularity of golf, Pinehurst Resort is adding a tenth course to its portfolio that will open in the Spring of 2024. This will be the first original golf course Pinehurst Resort has unveiled in nearly 30 years. In addition, the United States Golf Association is constructing its second headquarters in Pinehurst and the World Golf Hall of Fame is returning to Pinehurst next Spring.

While FirstHealth of the Carolinas and Pinehurst Resort are two of Moore County’s largest employers, we also have an expansive entrepreneurial network that stimulates the formation and growth of small businesses. Here entrepreneurs find a collaborative spirit of innovation and creativity. In fact, Moore County was designated as a Certified Entrepreneurial Community in 2022, signifying we have the resources to support aspiring and established entrepreneurs, and this is a place where entrepreneurs can succeed.

“Small businesses account for approximately 2/3 of job growth in the United States. Here in Moore County, our small business community is thriving and contributes significantly to our growing local economy,” said Hawkins. Locally owned restaurants, shops, professional practices, and manufacturing operations find a welcoming and supportive business environment here.

North Carolina has recently been successful at recruiting large companies just one-hour north of Moore County (e.g., Toyota Battery, Wolfsped, and Vinfast). These three companies alone have announced nearly $23 billion in capital investment and more than 14,000 new jobs over the next seven years. “These announcements have elevated the state in the eyes of national site selection consultants. As a result, MCEDP has seen an exponential increase in the number of new businesses looking to locate in Moore County in recent years,” said Hawkins.

Named the #1 State for Business by CNBC in each of the last two years, North Carolina, as well as Moore County, offer low business costs, groundbreaking research at top-tier universities in the Raleigh-Durham area, a diverse culture, superior infrastructure, and a pace of life that continues to attract talented people and companies.

“I see a very bright economic future for Moore County because our existing businesses are thriving, and we continue to attract a growing number of residents and businesses to our community. At the same time, we’ve been able to maintain our high quality of life and a business environment conducive to success,” said Hawkins.

Our Towns

Moore County is as much a charming Southern community as it is a Northern utopia. Diverse lifestyle options are a result of the area's unique geography that's claimed fame for the world's greatest golf.

Before Moore County became known for its golf, it was known for its agriculture, textile and longleaf pine industries, and major railways that transported the resulting commodities out of the county.

When Donald Ross came to the United States at the beginning of the 20th century, he changed the future of the area's economy.

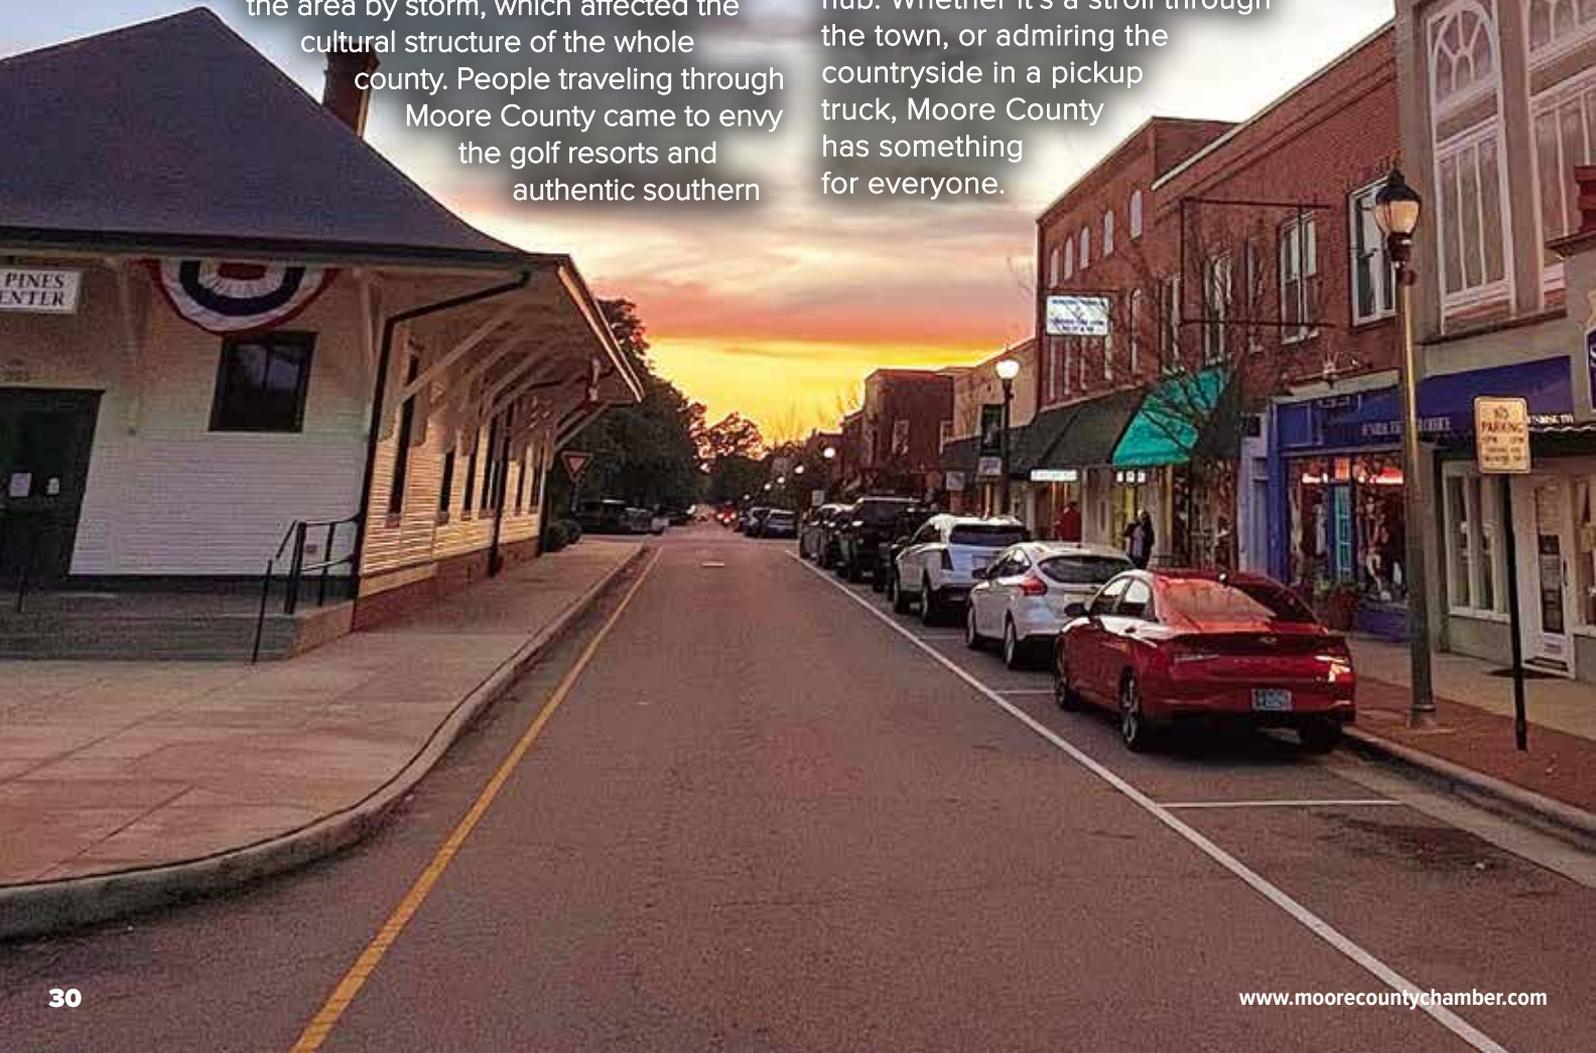

Ross' innovative golf course designs took the area by storm, which affected the cultural structure of the whole county. People traveling through Moore County came to envy the golf resorts and authentic southern hospitality, and tourism established itself as a plausible industry.

The northern half of the county has retained some of its "glory day" fervor by continuing to exist as a collection of small Southern towns. Farmers and landowners maintain the vast country landscapes that facilitate the area's popular agriculture and equestrian industries.

The southern half of the county is made up of suburban housing communities that value small town living. It largely comprises medical of medical professionals and retirees that support local businesses and maintain the golfing industry's top-notch status.

Moore County residents can live on country backroads as easily as they can live in housing communities that are closer to the county's urban hub. Whether it's a stroll through the town, or admiring the countryside in a pickup truck, Moore County has something for everyone.

Culture

If exploring the arts is your style, Moore County has plenty to offer. The county's Arts Council hosts a variety of events, such as free concerts, local art showings and classes for adults and children. The Artists League of the Sandhills has created a place and environment where others can pursue their artistic goals.

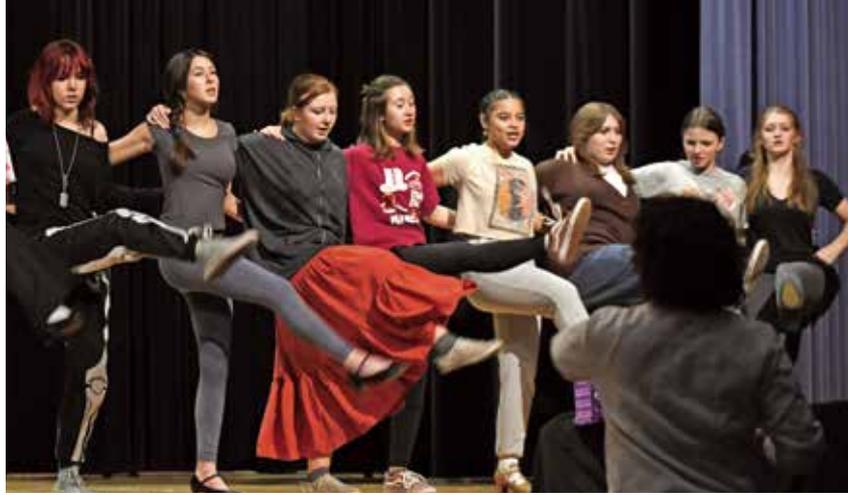

Casa Santa Ana is the most authentically Mexican restaurant in Moore County, We bring the traditional Mexican cuisine to the southeast...Try any of our Mexican dishes, and you'll feel like you're visiting Mexico!

Although more popular at big events and festivals, live entertainment in Moore County is a regular occurrence. Residents have opportunities throughout the year to catch a performance of the Carolina Philharmonic Orchestra, and the Arts Council hosts a Classical Concert Series that brings in talent from all over the world.

For those interested in more contemporary styles of music, Moore County has regular concert series, such as First Friday in Southern Pines, and Live after Five in Pinehurst. Many of these performances offer free admission, and are presented by the county's best venues, such as the Sunrise Theater in Southern Pines. In the spring and summer, artists perform outside to accommodate larger crowds and take advantage of nicer weather.

There are also festivals throughout the year that support local bluegrass bands and Southern rock groups, such as the annual Buggy Festival in Carthage and Farmer's Day in Robbins.

For those who fancy live theater, Broadway shows, ballet and world-renowned speakers, the Given Performing Arts Center at the nearby University of North Carolina at Pembroke offers access to them on one of the finest stages in the state. Carolina Performing Arts Theatre Group is the resident theater company at The Encore Center in Southern Pines. The newly renovated Bradshaw Performing Arts Center at Sandhills Community College brings a variety of live theater, dance and music, as well as the Ruth Pauley Lecture Series.

This series, sponsored by the college, the Moore County League of Women Voters, the American Association of University Women and Moore County Schools, introduces noted speakers to the Sandhills. The goal of the lectures is to deepen understanding of key issues and encourage public participation in their resolution.

Moore County isn't lacking in the literary department either. The Weymouth Center for the Arts and Humanities became home to the North Carolina Literary Hall of Fame in 1996. This exciting cultural trademark was made possible by former Weymouth Center resident James Boyd. He made his living writing and publishing, and has been accredited with launching the "Southern Literary Renaissance" in the 1920s and '30s. Boyd's former study - now known as the Boyd Room - is used to host book readings featuring North Carolina's most talented authors.

The county's artistic flair wouldn't be complete without its historical pottery scene. Residents travel across the county to browse the sprawling selection of clay-made crafts in Cameron and Robbins. In fact, Cameron hosts the biannual Antique and Collectibles Fair to celebrate the vast number of local potters and antique shops.

Moore County's art scene entertains the classics, and recognizes its Southern roots. From traditional art forms to some good ol' bluegrass, residents can engage in a variety of cultural opportunities throughout the year.

Maestro Michael David Wolff leads the Carolina Philharmonic through a series of concerts each season, each one different from the rest. Pet Friendly Community

If there's a place that loves their pets more than we do, we aren't sure where it is. Be it a cat, dog, horse or even something more exotic, you'll find businesses and services around the community that will help keep your pet happy.

In the fun department, Moore County boasts several local dog parks, some that require a membership that ensures the park is maintained and is safe. If you prefer to keep the pup on a leash, enjoy the area's trails for a walk like the Reservoir Park, Weymouth Woods or the Greenway. Also, bring your pet out in costume for the Village of Pinehurst 4th of July parade!

Pets are also a big business. You'll find an abundance of pet services including full-service groomers, boarding facilities, pet supply companies both large and small, several top notch veterinary clinics and even a few dog walkers. Most of the local boarders have doggie daycare available for working pet-parents.

But the best way to know that the Sandhills loves pets is by the generous support to the pet population provided by a multitude of nonprofits with similar missions surrounding animal rescue and welfare. Whether you're seeking a volunteer opportunity or a furry friend in need of a forever home, turn to organizations like the Moore Humane Society.

Volunteers

Volunteers play a huge part in what makes Moore County such a vibrant community. Whether it's keeping up the gardens at Weymouth, helping at the hospital, or coaching a Dixie Youth baseball team, volunteers add untold value to the lives of others without expecting a dime in return. Local business associations in the larger towns contribute to the beauty and economic health of their downtowns through volunteer efforts, raising money and donating it to good causes. Serving the community through local government boards and committees is another approach. Animal lovers devote thousands of hours a year to help agencies such as Moore Humane Society keep the pet population healthy and adopted out to good homes.

Countless events are run each year by volunteers, such as the Sandhills Race Series, a collection of fun runs of differing distance, and Friday music events during the warm months. Others volunteer with local schools, the Sunrise Theater or the Arts Council of Moore County, mentoring small businesses, or as ambassadors for the Chamber of Commerce. Whatever your special skills are or what area you'd like to get involved in, there's likely a great avenue for you to contribute to.

Education

Moore County offers a variety of public and private educational opportunities for K-12 students and is home to one of the most popular community colleges in the state, Sandhills Community College (SCC).

Photos courtesy of Moore County Schools

MCS' Strategic Plan incorporates a vision of striving to be the standard for excellence in education in North Carolina, and its mission is for all students to graduate with the skills, knowledge, character, and education necessary to become proud and successful citizens of the United States of America. The county's 23 public schools offer students challenging lessons taught by licensed professionals with years of experience in the field and the classroom. In fact, nearly half of the school system's certified employees have obtained a master's degree or higher in their field of expertise or in teaching.

Before advancing to a K-12 school, it is essential that all children have the opportunity to build early developmental skills that will enhance their success in a rigorous and innovative academic curriculum. MCS utilizes a research-based program called Creative Curriculum in all of its preschool classes, focusing on the principles of early childhood development. Through a partnership with North Carolina's NC PreK and Smart Start programs, preschoolers are prepared for success in kindergarten by enhancing readiness in the areas of literacy, mathematics, and social-emotional skills.

Moore County Schools' Digital Learning Initiative provides a Chromebook device for all students in grades 6 through 12 for use both in school and at home. Kindergarten through 5th-grade students are given a device (iPad for K-1, Chromebook for 2-5) for use at school with the option to take it home. The initiative aims to ensure students are college and career-ready, offering opportunities for them to showcase mastery and growth through the creation and publication of digital work. It also aims to immerse students in personalized learning experiences, fostering collaboration, creativity, and publication—all grounded in the core learning standards.

Elementary, middle, and high school teachers actively engage students through a combination of rigorous and innovative teaching methods, providing a dynamic learning environment. The district offers various opportunities to support students in becoming future-ready, with initiatives like the STEM program. This comprehensive initiative includes robotics programs for grades K-8, science kits tailored for K-8 students, CyberPatriot teams operating in all three high schools, and summer STEM camps. These camps serve as gateways, introducing students to a range of STEM-focused careers, including computer programming, forensics, robotics, engineering, forestry, health sciences, and aviation. Moore County Schools are widely acknowledged as leaders in STEM education across the state, a recognition underscored by the receipt of multiple Digital Teaching and Learning Grants from the Department of Public Instruction. Additionally, Moore County Schools ranks 10 out of 115 districts in the state for composite Grade Level Proficiency as well as top 10 in the state for Career and Technical Education attainment in career credentials based on student performance from the 2023-2024 school year, highlighting its status as a leader in both general and specialized education areas.

Moore County's excellent high schools make it easy for students to successfully transition into college. SAT scores consistently meet or exceed state and national averages, and all three schools offer Advanced Placement courses, enabling students to start earning college credits in high school. Sandhills Community College also allows high school students in Moore and Hoke counties to take courses prior to graduation exempt from tuition fees.

To strengthen our partnership with Moore County's homeschool population, MCS' Connect Academy offers the Blend+Ed program for K-12 students. For grades K-5, students attend face-to-face instruction two days per week, with the remaining days dedicated to home-based learning. This can involve materials provided by Moore County Schools' teachers or the family's chosen homeschool curriculum. Enrolled students have the option to participate in extracurricular activities, art, music, and physical education classes. For grades 6-12, students can tailor their course load to meet individual needs, using either traditional in-person learning or online classes in coordination with their homeschool curriculum. Blend+Ed students in grades 6-12 may also participate in athletics and other extracurricular activities held after the regular school day.

MCS' Connect Academy also offers the Virtual program for K-12 students who prefer a fully virtual learning environment. These students learn grade-level content from certified, fully-licensed MCS teachers, with live and recorded sessions that maintain the same pace as in-person classes. Virtual students also have the opportunity to participate in athletics and extracurricular activities outside of school hours. Students enrolled in Blend+Ed or Virtual for grades 9-12 may also qualify for the Sandhills Promise. For more information on the learning options available through Moore County Schools, please visit mcschoices.com.

A photograph showing three construction workers at a building site. In the foreground, a woman and a man are working on a large wooden beam. The woman is wearing a blue long-sleeved shirt, black pants, a black hard hat, and a white apron with 'LDAES' written on it. She is using a hand plane on the wood. The man is wearing a blue t-shirt, blue shorts, a black hard hat, and a white apron with 'WORLD CHANGERS' written on it. In the background, another worker in a white shirt and a yellow hard hat is visible, working on a higher level of the structure. The structure is made of light-colored wood framing. The ground is sandy and there are trees in the background.

Housing

In the Sandhills

Known as a relatively wealthy county in North Carolina, it doesn't take long to recognize that many of the valued staff members of local businesses in Moore County are facing increased challenges as they seek affordable housing. Many of these individuals are teachers, first responders, or working in our healthcare or hospitality fields, and they are critical to our community. These housing challenges will continue to increase as our population grows, and we see no end to that growth in the foreseeable future.

The good news is that we live in a community that recognizes the need to work toward a solution for their local employees at every level. Even if only for selfish motives, finding ways to build and preserve affordable housing is necessary to ensure the continued vibrancy of our local economy. Not only do individuals show their support for local solutions through our housing nonprofits, but now, our municipalities and for-profit builders are working to get on board with solutions. We have always appreciated partnership in our community, and our recent collaborative efforts will provide much-needed relief to our current housing status.

At Habitat for Humanity of the NC Sandhills, we have been aware of increasing housing market challenges for over three decades. The effects of our current housing market are particularly evident due to the demographic of families we serve. Elevations in the costs of basic needs like housing are especially challenging for our families as they often lack the financial security to absorb such fluctuations. While Habitat has been working hard for decades to meet the housing needs of our workforce, the current market is forcing us to look beyond our resources and find ways to engage these concerned partners who care but need viable solutions.

Recently, The Town of Aberdeen approved our newest answer to local workforce housing. The proposed planned development, Sandhills Station, will be the first mixed-income, mixed-use community with a focus on addressing the housing needs of our local workforce. The campus will provide immediate housing rentals for young professionals recruited to the area as well as long term home ownership solutions for those who meet Habitat's extensive qualifications. The 103-acre planned development will provide multiple housing options at various price points, and it will also include retail and other commercial uses for the surrounding residents. With the entitlement process underway, Habitat will now open up the project to partners and investors eager to be part of the solution.

Ultimately, it is an exciting time to work in housing, primarily to address the concerns of affordable housing for our workforce. Our community has the potential to set an example for towns across the country as to how we can prioritize housing solutions to preserve the workforce upon which we rely. Interested in these ideas? Reach out to your elected leaders or the nonprofits working in this space to see how you can join the effort.

Breweries and Wineries

With the emergence of the craft brewing industry, it's no surprise that Moore County has breweries, wineries, cider houses and a distillery (coming soon) of its own. The trendsetter was Rail House Brewery, which was opened more than a decade ago by veterans in historic downtown Aberdeen. Following suit, three retired Green Berets traded in their boots for barley and started brewing beers like Man of Law IPA and Duck Hook cream ale, opening Southern Pines Brewing Company in late 2014. Both breweries have family friendly taprooms and are hosts to community events throughout the year, including Southern Pines Brewery's Pints and Poses yoga classes, networking mixers and outdoor concerts.

Pinehurst Resort opened a brewery in late 2018 tucked just a few blocks from the resort's Carolina Hotel. It occupies what was the original village steam plant that once powered all of Pinehurst. Boasting the building's original brick facade and steel windows, it is now a restaurant and brewery serving craft beers and barbecue.

Hatchet Brewing Company opened in the fall of 2019 in downtown Southern Pines and with its success is expanding into other markets in North Carolina.

James Creek Cider House harvests 65 varieties of apples in Cameron to create signature small batch ciders that they sell across the state at select bottle shops, farmers markets and locally at area wine shops, pubs and restaurants.

Youth Activities

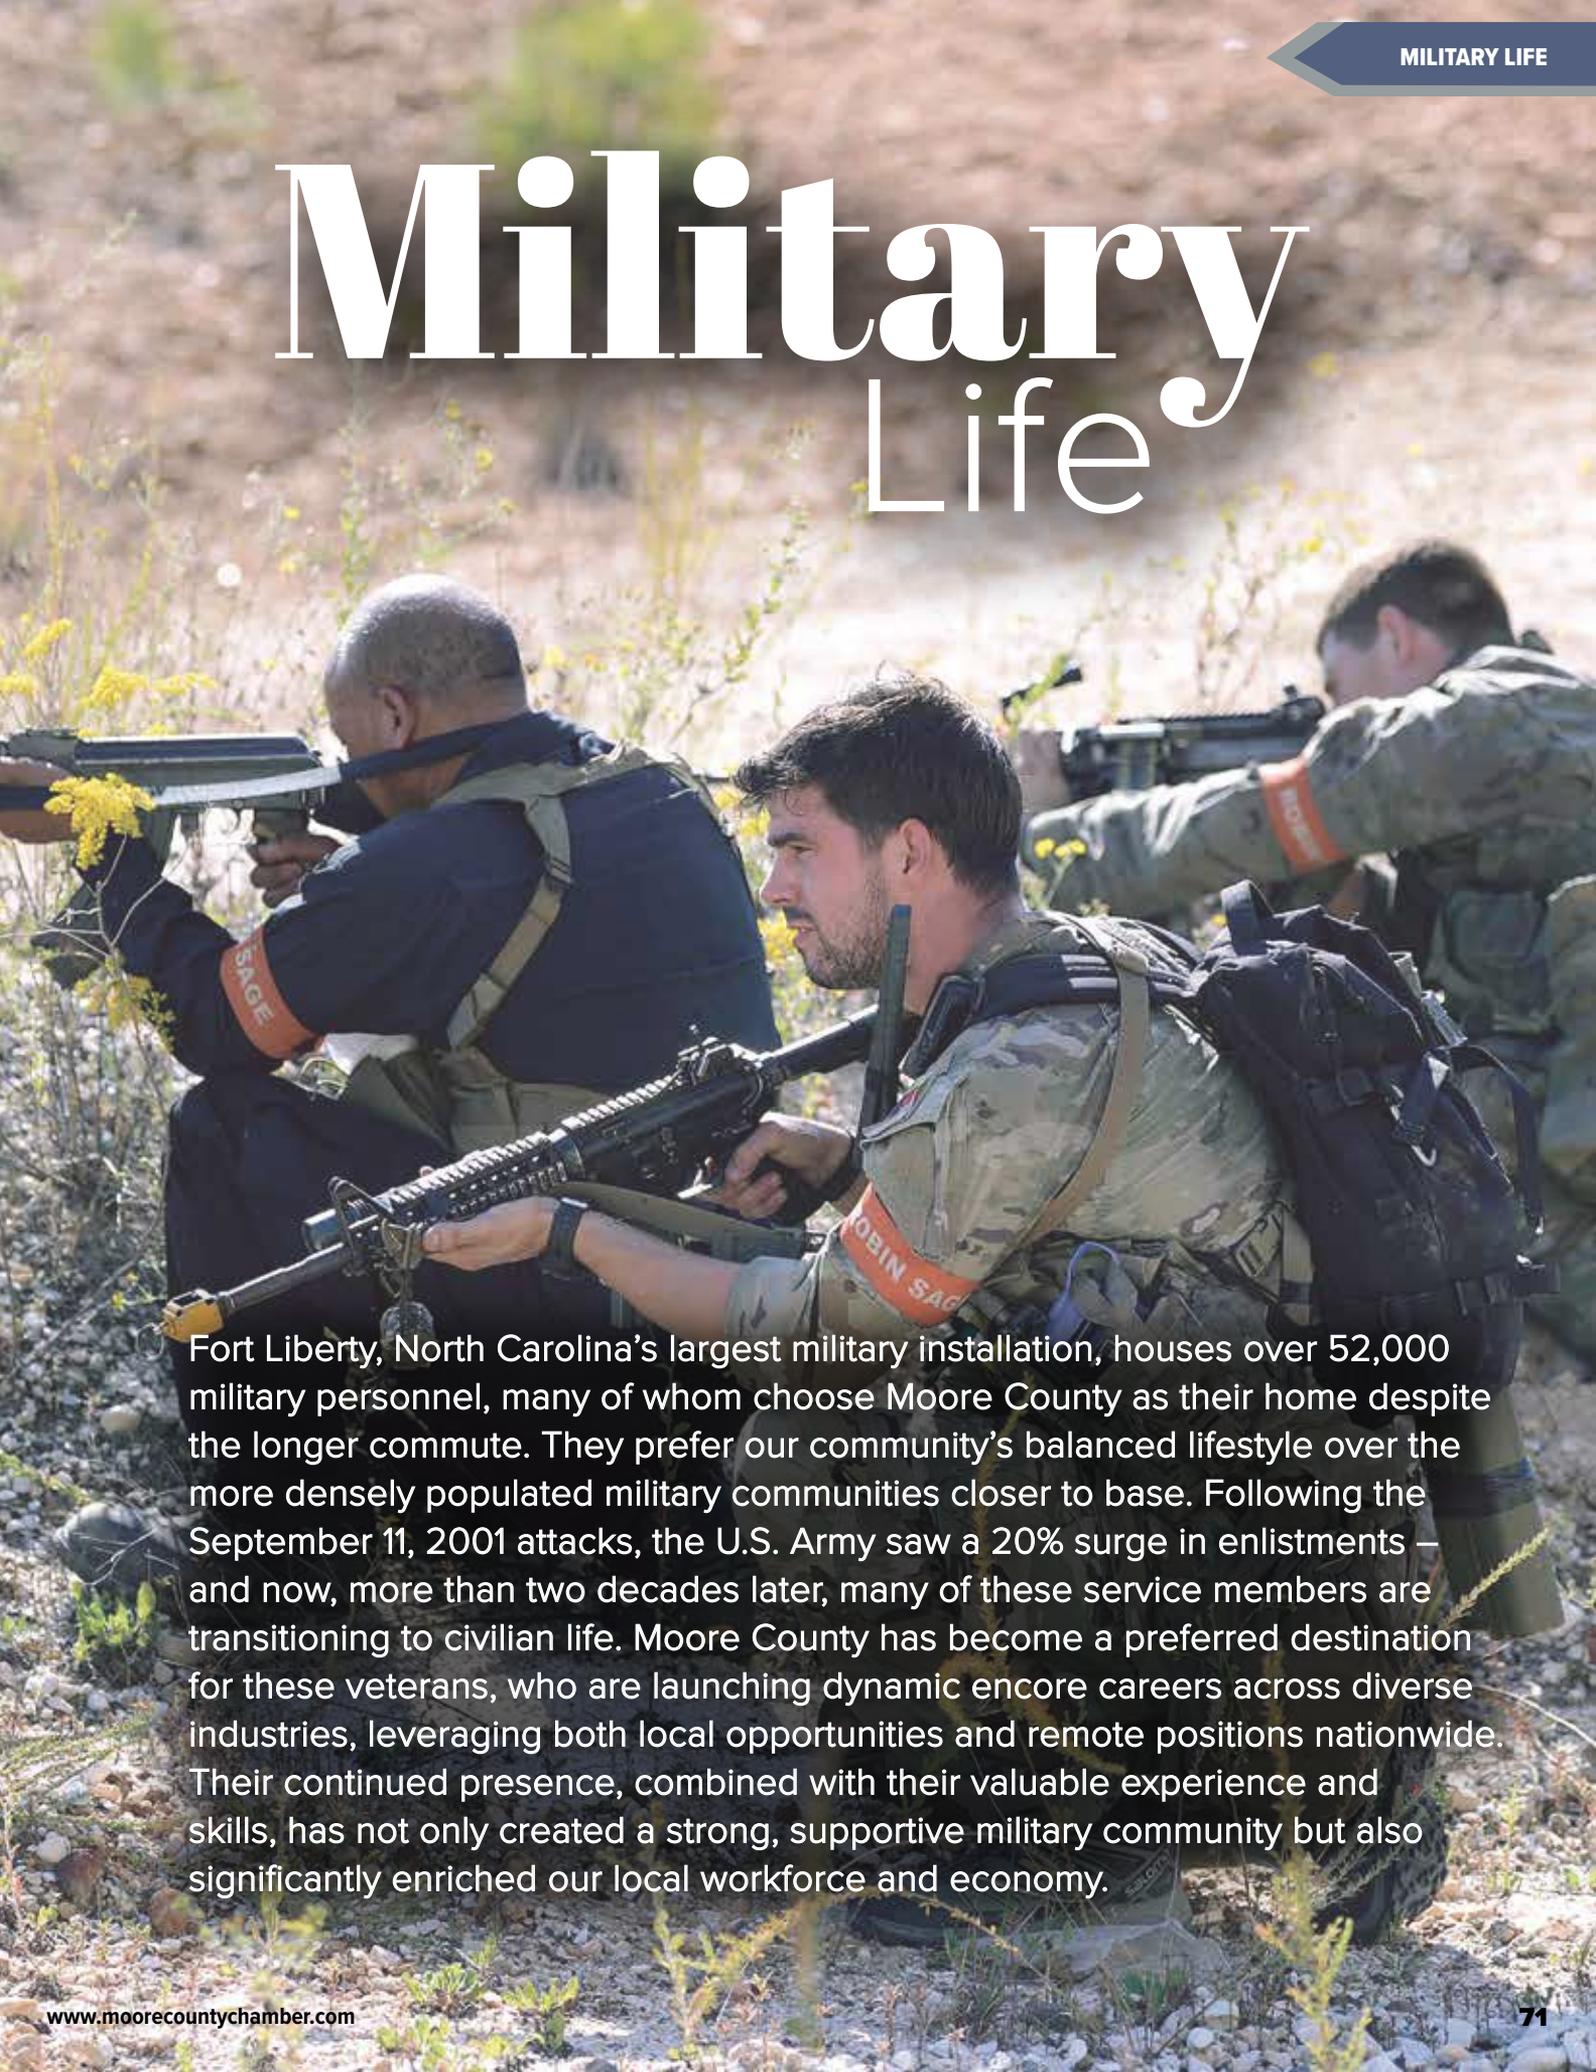

If your family is into athletics, there are a host of choices available for kids of all ages. Southern Pines, Aberdeen and Pinehurst have thriving recreational departments offering seasonal sport leagues. Additionally, AC Sandhills, a privately run sports league, supports recreational and traveling club soccer, volleyball and lacrosse. The Sandhills Optimist Club offers fall football and spring baseball for ages 6-13, while the Sandhills Lacrosse League has a local travel lacrosse team for high school boys who wish to play at a competitive level. The O'Neal Swim Team is a year-round competitive swim team for all ages. Football players are primed for the Friday night lights through the Sandhills Patriots youth league. Aspiring young golfers can join programs like US Kids Golf, which is headquartered at Longleaf Golf Club in Southern Pines, or First Tee of the Sandhills.

Moore County is also home to the National Athletic Village, which offers athletic adventures ranging from youth rugby and field hockey programs to dance classes, strength training, archery, summer camps, hiking trails, futsal programs and everything in between. NAV is a membership facility that includes a performance gym.

Finally, there are a handful of local dance studios, some offering classes to children as young as 2 years old, like Terpsichore and L Mace Studios, and others that compete at a high level at national competitions, including 12-time national champions Seven Lakes Dance. Encore Performing Arts Center in Southern Pines offers artistic instruction in dance, music and theater for all ages. Sandhills Gymnastics has been home to competitive gymnastic teams for more than 30 years, but it's probably best known for its Friday Night Fun Gym.

Military Life

Fort Liberty, North Carolina's largest military installation, houses over 52,000 military personnel, many of whom choose Moore County as their home despite the longer commute. They prefer our community's balanced lifestyle over the more densely populated military communities closer to base. Following the September 11, 2001 attacks, the U.S. Army saw a 20% surge in enlistments — and now, more than two decades later, many of these service members are transitioning to civilian life. Moore County has become a preferred destination for these veterans, who are launching dynamic encore careers across diverse industries, leveraging both local opportunities and remote positions nationwide. Their continued presence, combined with their valuable experience and skills, has not only created a strong, supportive military community but also significantly enriched our local workforce and economy.

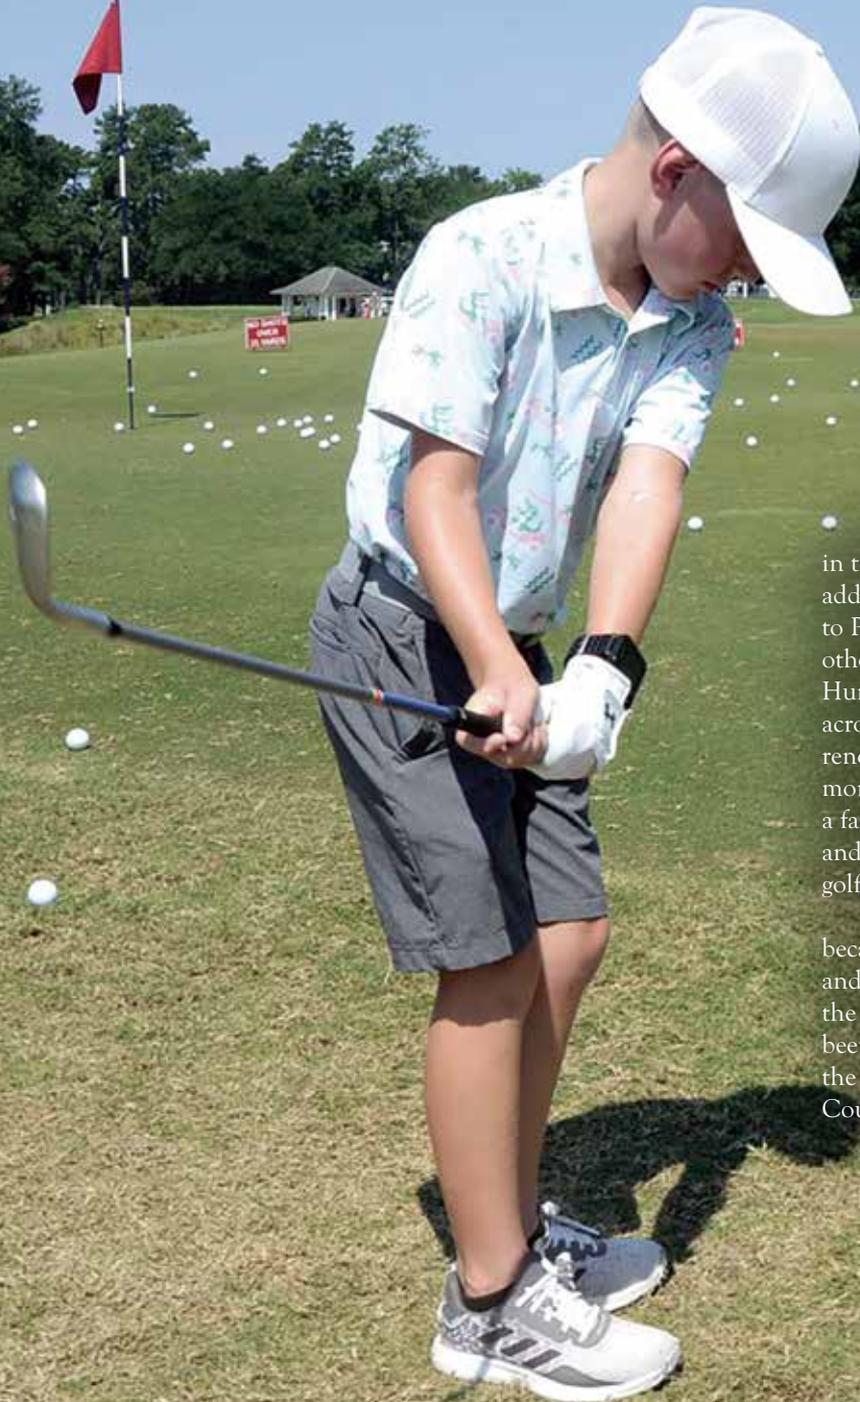

Beyond joining existing businesses as valued employees, veterans have become a driving force in Moore County's entrepreneurial landscape. Veteran-owned businesses have flourished here, with enterprises like Cactus Creek Gourmet Coffee Roasters, Southern Pines Brewing Company, R. Riveter, BHAWK Distillery, Spiritus Systems, and Hatchet Brewing Company becoming integral parts of our community's hospitable character and major attractions for our thousands of annual visitors. Alongside these enterprises exists a small group of veteran-focused non-profits which serve to enhance the lives of our military families, helping them build resiliency and providing critical support in the often-challenging transition from military to civilian life.

In summer 2024, the North Carolina State Chamber of Commerce visited Moore County and toured the above-mentioned veteran-owned businesses, witnessing firsthand the remarkable impact of military entrepreneurship in our community. During the visit, Chamber leadership engaged with representatives from The Special Forces Charitable Trust, The Honor Foundation, and The Donovan and Bank Foundation - non-profits that have collectively assisted over 2,000 local servicemembers and veterans since 2020 - to gain deeper insights into the challenges military families face during transition. These discussions highlighted why so many veterans choose to put down permanent roots in North Carolina rather than relocate elsewhere. The state's commitment to veterans is evident through its comprehensive benefits package, including tax advantages, higher education scholarships for dependents of service-disabled veterans, and other military-friendly policies that make North Carolina an attractive long-term home for service members and their families.

Looking ahead, the Moore County Chamber of Commerce is taking proactive steps to further strengthen its support of our thriving veteran community. Plans are underway to establish a dedicated Military and Veterans Affairs Committee, which will serve as a central hub connecting veteran entrepreneurs, business leaders, and residents with Chamber resources and opportunities. This initiative reflects the Chamber's recognition that veterans bring unique leadership skills, proven work ethic, and valuable perspectives to our business community. Rather than requiring Chamber staff to become subject matter experts in military affairs, this Committee will leverage the expertise of our existing veteran support organizations while creating new pathways for veteran success in Moore County's dynamic business landscape

Golf

Golf is and will continue to be the aspect of life in the Sandhills that echoes around the world. In addition to the U.S. Open Championship returning to Pinehurst No. 2 in 2024, there will be hundreds of other tournaments played on its greens in the meantime. Hundreds of thousands of people come to the area from across the world for the sole purpose of savoring the renowned courses in America's "Home of Golf." With more than 40 courses, most of them semi-private, there is a fair test for every player's level, and a favorite hole, view and course from every visit. Pinehurst No. 2 is on every golfer's bucket list.

Golf contributes greatly to the local quality of life because those visitors stay in hotels, eat in restaurants and shop while they are here. There is an old saying in the sport, "If you play golf, you are my friend." Golf has been a friend to this area for more than 100 years, and the sport, more than any single thing, has put Moore County on the world map.

The Great Outdoors

Gardens and Wildlife Areas

Outdoor activities in Moore County are as abundant as they are diverse. There are recreational park facilities for children, and lush gardens for those looking for a pleasant place to walk and relax. For residents who want more rigorous outdoor experiences, Moore County has trails to be hiked and rivers to be conquered by canoes and fishermen.

Sandhills Community College Horticultural Gardens is one of the most beautiful areas in the county. Their winding walkways guide residents through almost 32 acres of gorgeous plant life and shrubbery, all of which fall under 14 unique garden themes. The community college highlights historical significance by lining the trails with information about the county's most treasured botanical features. The garden is maintained by the college's landscape gardening program. It's a popular spot for family pictures and weddings, and serves as a relaxing spot to get some peace and quiet without fully embracing the natural allure of the outdoors.

For a vigorous trail-run, or some entertaining bird-watching in the area's glorious longleaf pine trees, head to the natural area at Weymouth Woods in Southern Pines. It spans almost 900 acres and was North Carolina's first natural area. Its focus is sustaining and promoting plant growth and wildlife rather than facilitating recreational activities like camping and fishing. Weymouth offers weekly trail tours, as well as special events for wildlife enthusiasts, such as guided bird-watches.

Perhaps the most popular outdoor area in Moore County is Southern Pines Reservoir Park. Exercise runs rampant around the reservoir's 95-acre lake. The man-made trails are great for bikers and runners who want challenging terrain. Residents can get exercise on the lake, too. Kayaking is easily accessible, and fishermen can canoe on the lake for some quiet pole reeling. The ongoing Deep River Trails project hopes to establish a series of cycling routes connecting the reservoir to eight other counties, spanning over 350 miles of trails.

There are several other lakes in Aberdeen, Carthage and Whispering Pines that are open to fishermen and kayakers. Head north toward Robbins to kayak and canoe down Bear Creek, Cabin Creek or the Deep River, which also offers river races during the year.

Equestrian and Public Parks

Those looking for something more competitive can check out one of the 18 Moore County public parks. Most have playgrounds for children, as well as public sports facilities for those interested in baseball, disc golf, soccer, tennis and more. Several of the county's municipalities have leagues and teams for adults, and the Moore County Recreation Department ensures kids a place to play and be active through their teenage years.

Not only were the Sandhills made for excellent golf, they were made for excellent horseback riding too. The equestrian opportunities are both high quality and expansive.

The most recent large-scale development is the Carolina Horse Park. It offers over 250 acres of national competition venues, and its nonprofit status ensures local equestrian enthusiasts preservation of recreational horse land. The park hosted the American Eventing Championship its first three years in existence. It's the only facility in the mid-Atlantic region able to host multiple competition disciplines at the championship level, and the organization brings an estimated $1.5 million into the local economy.

Another prominent local equestrian facility is the Pinehurst Harness Track, which covers over 100 acres of land and has 20 barns. It's a popular spot for winter training because it has sand and clay tracks, which also make it conducive to host other types of events, such as dog races and polocrosse.

Farmers Markets

Ecological developments during the past several years have pushed local economies to "go green." Moore County recognizes the value of such initiatives, and has implemented several plans to support this transition. The county's Farm to Table cooperative has expanded, partnering with local farmers to not only bring fresh produce and goods to consumers, but to local restaurants as well. Farm to Table has already brought together over 1,200 county residents who subscribe to receive produce that's gathered from at least 30 local farmers.

A new initiative is called Farm to Institution, and the goal is to encourage local restaurant owners to use the same produce in their kitchens that consumers enjoy using in their own. This, combined with Moore County's already active farmers markets, creates local environmental awareness that enables a healthy lifestyle and supports the local economy.

Blessing of the Hounds

For the past 100 years, fox hunting and the Moore County Hounds have been a fixture in Moore County, and almost as long as golf. Author James Boyd is credited with starting the hunting practice and subsequent “Horse Country” that developed after he built his home, Weymouth, and invited friends and colleagues to come down and build farms to winter their horses. Now there are dozens of majestic farms in the area around Southern Pines.

A unique annual event called the Blessing of the Hounds is ceremoniously performed in a large field just outside of Southern Pines as a prelude to a hunt. Riders dress in their best red and black coats, with horses groomed and fitted with their shiniest saddles and tack. Several thousand people attend, some tailgating for hours, as the horses and dressed riders prepare to take off. The Moore County Hounds is a privately owned pack of dogs that board nearby. On Thanksgiving Day, the dogs get the blessing, and the visitors get a beautiful vision of a time lost to most.

Healthy Living

If fitness is your thing, you'll certainly be pleased with the diverse options this community has to offer. Area trails like the Greenway weave their way through the Sandhills providing safe paths for walking, running, biking and even horseback riding. Running clubs have become a popular pastime for enthusiasts, often beginning or ending at neighborhood watering holes like the Southern Pines Growler Shop.

Other group fitness activities found around town include Fit4Mom, Stroller Strides and Sassy Tappers, all sponsored by the village of Pinehurst.

FirstHealth offers the area's largest traditional gym, the FirstHealth Fitness Center in Pinehurst. Other gyms like Anytime Fitness provide around the clock access to members. There are a number of concept studios like CrossFit, Pure Barre and Forte Fitness that each offer unique training models in addition to a wide range of yoga and Pilates studios throughout the community, all helping to ensure that no matter your exercise preference, you'll be able to find your niche in Moore County.
